Pressed Meadow Dinner Plate Terrain

Anything flower-pressed has my attention. These are so pretty & would look lovely dressed up on a table, but would play just as well with a casual setting.

Beautifully saturated color and has a Russel Wright vibe that I love.

archetypes

Now we're dishin' and our favorite new styles are deliciously indulgent. Looking for pared-down minimalism? Take the cake on clean, easy-lined tableware. If your style leans more toward the whimsical, your next meal will taste even better on intricately patterned collections. Or choose looks that effortlessly bridge the formal and informal with dishware in classic colors and silhouettes. Tempting and tantalizing, these tabletop items will make you want to join the clean plate club.

Glass Cloche Garde
gardeshop.com

This beautiful Glass Cloche is perfect for keeping pesky insects away from the food. It's simply elegant and barely even there.

Wooden Palate Mod Bowl Garde

Since I now divide my time between New York and Los Angeles, I have found wonderful new sources on the West Coast for great design. This reclaimed, recycled, repurposed wooden bowl is another find from Garde. It is just stunning.

Skull Place Card Holders Joanna Buchanan

Three simple things make for a memorable summer gathering:

1. Mix it up with people who haven't met yet.
2. Thoughtful seating arrangement for lively conversation – and chic name cards, so no one's embarrassed they don't remember a name.
3. A sense of whimsy. They do the trick nicely.

MetroChic Collection by Barry Goralnick Villeroy & Boch Signature
villeroy-boch.com

Nothing is more elegant or decadent than dining on premium bone porcelain outdoors, whether the meal is casual or haute cuisine. MetroChic's versatile pattern makes the meal and the diner feel it's the right place to be.

1959 Dom Pérignon or 2020 Dos Equis? Dom Pérignon. Pull Up a Chair or Black Tie Formality? Pull up a chair. Six is the ideal number for us to entertain. Potluck or Prime Rib? Potluck. Mom's Kitchen or a Michelin-Star Meal? Michelin-Star meal. Casserole or Caviar? I do have a weakness for good caviar.

GOODS

TAMAM is a captivating home accessories line and boutique founded by textile designers and avid collectors Elizabeth Hewitt and Clare Louise Frost, and one of Turkey's most prominent antiques dealers and rug producers, Huseyin Kaplan. Their assortment ranges from vintage and rare pieces to their in-house line of home textiles and accessories.

TAMAM is the Turkish word for "ok, sure, alright, uh-huh, yep." It also comes from the Arabic root word for "complete," which felt right to Hewitt and Frost when they stumbled upon the space for Tamam.
